Three of a Kind.

Mrs. Frank Gatzell yesterday gave birth to triplets—all girls. Mother and children doing well.

Kaffir Corn and Sorghum.

This season's experience emphasizes the truth that Kaffir corn and sorghum are important crops on many upland farms in Oklahoma. Much less has been done in improving Kaffir corn by careful selection of seed than has been the case with Indian corn. There is every reason to believe that the yield of grain and the size of the kernels can be considerably increased by persistent selection. The experiment station proposes giving careful attention to this, but farmers generally can easily do the work for themselves.

Annual Church Meeting.

The annual church day of the Christian church was observed last evening by that denomination. An elegant lunch was served to members of the church and their families, after which the annual business meeting was held and officers elected for the ensuing year.

Today the territorial convention of Christian church Sunday schools will convene for a three days' session. Each church in the territory will be represented. Program of exercises will be published later.

Cupid's Capers.

W. T. Coleman, the genial manager of the Rush dry goods house, will be united in marriage tonight to Miss Nellie Slosser. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's father in West Guthrie, at 8 o'clock. The groom has fitted up a neat home on Broad, between Cleveland and Noble, and the couple will go to house-keeping at once. Mr. Coleman is one of the city's most energetic and worthy business men, while the bride is an amiable and accomplished young lady. Their many friends tender congratulations in advance.

Ant the Hessian Fly.

No damage has been reported from the Hessian fly in Oklahoma in seasons past, but it is liable to appear at any time and is almost sure to appear within a few years at most. Fields known or suspected to harbor the insect should be burned over. A narrow strip of wheat may be sown at one side of the field very early in which the fly will deposit eggs before the regular crop is far enough advanced to attract the insect. This strip should be plowed under very late in the season. Fields sown as late as is consistent with safety will sometimes escape attack, while those of earlier sowing will not.

Land Office Decisions.

In the case of William P. Root vs. Joseph Fairfield, which was a controversy over the sw q, of section 28, township 20 n, range 8 east, Perry, Oklahoma, the secretary has dismissed the appeal made by Root on the ground that it was not filed in time as required by the rules of the department, and sustains the decision of the general land office.

In the case of Thomas G. George vs. Ephraim J. Stroud, which was a contest over the sw q, of section 9, township 22 n, range 9 west, Perry land district, Oklahoma Territory, the secretary concurs in and affirms the decision of the general land office.

A Curious Find.

The Oklahome Times says: G. H. Hill made a find last week that is keeping our scientists thinking. He has a fine sand pit on his farm, and while shoveling sand the workmen found a large iron staple, about nine inches long, and nicely sharpened. There was about four feet of black earth and two feet of sand above it, and it was about twenty yards back from the outer edge of the pit. There were no signs of the earth having been disturbed, and how it got there is yet to be explained. Mr. Hill has previously found bones, teeth, etc., in the sand bed, but to all appearances the iron must have been there for ages.

Unkch Bugs Doing No Damage.
For several reasons the chinch bug has done but little damage in the territory this season although parts of some fields have been destroyed. This is no indication that there will be but few next season. There are plenty in the fields now to do a good deal of damage next season if but a few of them pass the winter. As a measure for preventing the bugs wintering over, it would be well to gather up and destroy all the old rubbish on the farm in which the bugs may find lodgment.

A Halted Mine.

PAWNER, Okla., Sept. 7.—A grocer named Stafford in this town had the reputation of being stingy. He became greatly interested in the Klondike gold craze, and his acquaintances seized the opportunity to teach him a lesson. Four dollars worth of gold lining was purchased from a dentist. These were mixed with dirt and placed on a claim near the city. It was so arranged that Stafford should discover it, which he did, purchasing the claim for $10,000, and made application for a lease. He paid $15 attorney fees and $5 to have a charter drawn for incorporating a mining company to work and operate the find. A contest was immediately filed on the claim and a kangaroo court was organized to try the rights of litigants. It was a hard fought case in which Stafford was beaten, but he did not discover the joke until the trial was over. The purchase price of the land will be returned, but Stafford will still be out about $20.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

For the week ending Monday, September 2:
With the exception of a few light showers the first part of the week in the western section no rain has fallen. The days have been hot, cloudless and dry with fairly cool nights.

The average temperature, 80.9 degrees, is 5.5 degrees above the normal. The continued hot, dry weather has been favorable for threshing, for gathering corn, kaffir and other fall crops, and for picking cotton which has now become general.

Generally the week's weather has been favorable to the cotton plant and bolts have opened rapidly. It is reported only in a couple of localities in the eastern and southern sections as being injured by the continued drouthy conditions. Doubtless a light to fair general rain would be beneficial to the middle and top portions of the plant except in the northern counties. Rain is also badly needed to put ground in condition for plowing. Sweet potatoes and turnips have been damaged to a considerable extent by the dry weather as have also the very late peaches.

Public School Matters.

The school board met in regular session last night. J. G. Seefield, of Seneca, Kan., was called as principal of the high school subject to examination.

Miss Marguerite Reese was elected assistant in the high school. Miss Jackson was re-elected as a teacher in the Banner school.

L. B. Jackson was elected as a member of the school board to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of H. A. Boyle from the city. He represents the Third ward.

The physiology and physics text books were discarded and the latest in those branches will be introduced.

The frame building moved on the Capitol Hill site will be used for the colored primary grade for the present.

The board decided to call teachers in order of general average in examinations. This action is taken for the reason that teachers will be chosen from the highest standard.

Pupils in the future will be given an opportunity for semi-annual promotions instead of annual promotions as has been the custom. This will enable those who failed in the examination at the closing of the school to be promoted without having to remain in the same grade as in the previous year.

This will greatly encourage those who failed in the examination and be an incentive to renewed efforts.

Professor Baxter is now grading the teachers' examination papers, and will, in a few days, assign them to their grades. The time for the final examination is set for September 16, 17 and 18, at which time certificates will be issued.

Miss Blanche Hance, who graduated from the three-year Latin course last year, was given a first grade certificate by the examining board. Miss Keath was also granted a first grade certificate.

The high school rooms in the Central building, have been enlarged to accommodate the increasing attendance, and the fourth and fifth grades will now be taught in the Capital school.

The following teachers have been elected, but have not been assigned: Misses Carson, Keach, Hance, Keeler, Kyser, McCarty, Hicks, Reese, Seelye, Cooper, Norris, Welch, Reeves, McAdams, Ryan, Ackley, Linton, Holliday, Hollingsworth, Moore, Holliday and West. Several other teachers were elected, whose names we could not get. The complete list will be published as soon as they are assigned to the grades.

Alexander Colbert brought to The Leader office yesterday some very fine peaches of the Round variety, one of them weighing seventeen ounces. They were raised on the D. E. Colbert farm, six miles southeast of this city. No finer fruit was ever produced. Mr. Colbert will save some of these beauties to exhibit at the fair.

Oklahoma can raise fruit. We are in receipt of a basket of Elberta peaches from Thos. Morris, Guthrie, Oklahoma, that demonstrates this fact. We never saw finer, larger, or more luscious peaches. They were not picked green, and arrived in perfect condition. Mr. Morris says that Oklahoma will rival California in growing fruit. If these peaches are a fair sample of what it can do we can not dispute it.—Ohio Farmer.
